Accelovance Increases Presence at Vaccine Industry Events

Rockville, MD – January 23, 2009 – Accelovance continues its annual sponsorship of the two most recognized vaccine industry events as it further defines its focus on vaccine clinical research and builds a reputation in this niche market.

Phacilitate Vaccine Forum takes place January 26-28 in Washington, DC. Accelovance will host a private reception on Tuesday January 27th at PS7's Restaurant in Washington, DC. On the third day of the event, Accelovance's President and CEO, Stephen J. Trevisan and Medical Director of Vaccines, Dr. Robert W. Malone will host a lunch workshop titled Innovative Approaches for Accelerating Timelines, Managing Costs and Improving Quality: A discussion about vaccine clinical development solutions during challenging times.

"Today's market presents some unique pressures in addition to the typical challenges vaccine Sponsors face in the clinical stage of development. Accelovance's operational approach delivers greater study control and improved predictability. This lunch discussion is a great way to explore immediate concerns and collectively present feasible solutions," said President and CEO, Stephen J. Trevisan. "Robert and I are thrilled to be hosting such a meaningful discussion."

In April, Accelovance will be present at Terrapinn's World Vaccine Congress in Dulles, Virginia. A similar event focused on the vaccine industry with nearly 500 in attendance representing government, biotech, small and large pharma, and service providers.

Headquartered in Rockville, Maryland, Accelovance is a privately held company that has developed a unique operational approach for delivering quality, on time, and cost effective clinical studies. Accelovance offers seven (7) wholly-owned, research-dedicated clinical sites to Sponsors and CROs that bring greater control, predictability, and quality assurance to vaccine programs. Additionally, the Company tailors its offering of full CRO, Clinical Sites, Patient Recruitment, and Call Center to present a clinical solution that meets a Sponsor's needs. Accelovance has a 100% owned subsidiary providing CRO services in China. These capabilities can assist clients with global development programs or product registration in China, the fastest growing pharmaceutical market in the world.
